Spur Them On!

And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds. - Hebrews 10:24

This summer, Brett has been “spurring on” a group of students and recent graduates who will be serving our Lord as Campus Crusade missionaries. Three of the graduates will be spending the next year of their lives ministering to students in Malaga, Spain. It has been a real joy for Brett to coach them because he gets to point them back to God as they put their trust in Him to meet their daily needs and future needs for their mission field. They are in the process of finding ministry partners, who will support them financially and prayerfully during their time in Spain. Of the three students, none of them knew each other previously, but they all have the same vision and calling to Malaga. They get to share their challenges and praises with each other and Brett over the phone through conference calls as well as through email. They end their phone calls with a time of prayer, for each other, for God’s provision, and for their reliance on Him, His Word, and His timing. During our own time of transition and through challenging circumstances, this process of coaching others has been a refreshing way for us to continue our mission and calling of influencing students towards spiritual growth for God’s glory.

Update

On top of staying connected to this group Brett is coaching, we have been spending a lot of time getting the house ready to be sold. A while back, we talked with three different realtors, and each one had a list of things we could do to make the house more appealing to a potential buyer. We were blessed to have family members who were willing to come help with the projects, as well and help with Lukas while we worked on projects. We’ve been painting (inside and out), landscaping, tiling, and so on. We are finally ready to start the process of listing the house, even though we have a few more details to wrap up. We have also started to look online for a home or apartment to rent in Greeley, and we plan to take a trip up there soon to search in person. It has been a challenging summer. The house and the list of projects often became overwhelming and stressful for us individually and as a family. However, we try to remember to stop and enjoy each other and this precious time we have to be together. We took a little time at the end of May to celebrate the birth of Lukas. He turned one year old on the 26th of May. We met with our small group that evening where they surprised us with treats, gifts, and balloons (Luke’s favorite)! Darci also made Luke’s birthday cake that he got to share with a few close friends. He has grown so quickly: the time has just flown by.

We are so grateful for your prayers and partnership!
God bless,

Brett + Darci
